ABOUT ME

I am a BCA graduate with a passion for full-stack web development and building user-friendly applications. I enjoy solving real-world problems through technology and have gained hands-on experience by working on personal and team projects. I am always eager to learn new skills, take on challenges, and grow as a developer.

PROJECTS

Live:Abhilearn.in

29 Sep, 2025– Present

Tech Stack: HTML5, CSS, JavaScript, Supabase

AbhiLearn is a team project that we built after noticing how difficult it was for PUP students to find study materials and important academic resources in one place. We wanted to make things simpler, so we created a platform where students could easily access the information they needed. While working on the project, we learned how to collaborate as a team, solve real development challenges, and build a user-friendly application that is now used by over 1,000 PUP students.
